RUSSIA AGAIN PROVES SNAG, GRAIN ACCORD

Demands She Be Allowed Exports Allotted

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The four wheat exporting nations failed to reach an understanding at Canada house yesterday with Soviet Russia on her demand she be allowed approximately double the exports allotted under the recent international agreement, but observers thought they saw a bright side to the picture.

Informants here understood the negotiators were optimistic the war could be ironed out.

The Russian delegate, who had stood for a larger figure for the wheat accord and then left before the conclusion of the one now in effect, said he was not sure if the representatives of Canada, the United States, Argentina and Australia participated.

Another meeting was planned for next week. Instructions may be sought from the home governments by some of the delegates in the meantime.

It was pointed out, however, that if it is impossible to satisfy Russia and she decides to go ahead with the export of wheat, it will be outside the agreement, this will mean that the nations which are not parties to the agreement, but which are not expected to do anything of the sort.

Trades and Labor Congress Refuses to Endorse Resolution

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 23.—Endorsement of the principles of the C.C.F. was rejected by the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress today after a keen debate.

R. J. Fallon of Montreal apparently expressed the majority view when he declared the workers would not be labor to be anyone's slave. The C.C.F. party included many labor men, he added.

The resolution urging endorsement of the C.C.F. coming from the Montreal Machinery Council, was rejected on the grounds it was against the policy of the congress. In a busy winding-up session, the big labor convention, which was a large number of resolutions and among them one supporting the C.C.F. party, was in calling for a national bank. Others which urged inflation of currency were, however, rejected.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Selection of Newark as the site for the new stock exchange in New Jersey was announced by the New York stock exchange today.

The New Jersey stock exchange, organized by the members of the New York exchange will lease the Centre market in Newark for trading purposes.

It was also announced at the office of the stock exchange that the Stock Clearing Corp. will occupy the Pennsylvania terminal in Jersey City.

This arrangement whereby the stock exchange will be moved a haven of refuge from the high taxes which Newark has levied on brokers' profits and stock transfers in New York City, was announced in two statements issued by Howard Fredrick, chairman of the organizing committee for the new market.

It was explained that locating the clearing in Jersey City, just across the river, would facilitate transfers of securities from New York to the new market.

The statement said terms had been agreed upon for rental of the entire centre market building for a period of years.

The centre market building is ideally suited to the needs of the new stock exchange, Fredrick said. "It will provide a trading floor substantially larger than that of the New York stock exchange."

Contractors have been engaged. Fully equipped trading floor and substantial number of important stocks will be inaugurated on Monday, October 2.

ARMED REBELS IN TWO CUBA AREAS GROWING MENACE

HAVANA, Sept. 23.—Already entangled in a maze of political, military and economic problems, the government of Ramon Grau San Martin faced a new menace last night as armed rebellion flared in at least two sectors, including the adjacent province of Matanzas.

While the best political minds tried to find a way out of the deadlock between Grau and his leading opponents, the army of students and soldiers sought to suppress the outbreak.

The faculty which Havana University professors hoped would play a role in the political situation, was drawn up and submitted to the opposition factions for consideration.

It authoritatively was said to include a provision that Grau remain in the president, but with sharply restricted powers, including one that he could not demand the resignation of cabinet members.

Rebels estimated to number 800 were moving through Matanzas province, cutting communication lines as they headed for the town of Guanajay in the center of the province, said reports from that area.

To the east, Juan Blas Hernandez, most picturesque of Cuban rebels, was in the hills with an army estimated variously at from a dozen to 2,000 men. After clashing with government forces near Moron, rebels, the rebel army according to reports received here, was adding recruits and splitting his forces into small bands.

MACDONALD DEFENDS HIS MANY POLICIES

Appeals to Scotch Voters For Continuance of Administration

KILMARNOCK, Scotland, Sept. 22.—In a speech which amounted to a justification of the part he had played in the formation of the National government nearly two years ago, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald last night appealed to voters in this Scottish constituency for the continuance of the administration.

The meeting followed closely upon an announcement that a by-election was imminent in the riding of Ayr, Scotland, and that the Scottish Labour party, Mr. Aitchison, had been elected to the seat.

The end of party politics two years ago, MacDonald said, was a question of the distribution of wealth but the existence of the party was not going to allow the government in the making of which he had a little hand to be misled.

"The end of party politics two years ago," MacDonald said, "was a question of the distribution of wealth but the existence of the party was not going to allow the government in the making of which he had a little hand to be misled."

MacDonald said that the government had been severely tested during the last two or three years, but that it had passed the test with flying colors.

He said that the government had given the people a new era of peace and democracy and that it had preserved it again and again.

WHERE ARE THOSE MARKETS?

France and Germany say they will not be exporting any wheat this year. France has plenty, and could spare some. Germany has enough for its own needs, and is probably in the same position as Germany; if it has a surplus for export, so much the worse for us.

This seems to about exhaust the benefits Canada is to get out of the agreement signed in London. It is not a very big thing in our markets. That they will buy any wheat from us there is not a promise nor a prospect.

But where are those markets located, which they agree to stay out of, and where we are to do our selling? Since Canada rarely trades with those former customers and thereby encouraged them to grow their own wheat, and since they now grow all they need or more, just where are the "outside markets" which we are supposed to sell our wheat?

"THE OLD ORDER CHANGES"

The Mounted Police is now a western organization only. The name is not the "Royal North West Mounted Police" in this part of Canada was so long familiar, but the "Royal Canadian." As a new name signifies it is not a national police force, operating in all parts of the Dominion, and the administrative arrangements must be made accordingly.

It will be a matter of regret to Edmonton citizens that the headquarters of "G" division is to be removed from this city to Ottawa. The change is being made for reasons of administrative convenience or efficiency, and these considerations must govern. But Edmonton people will feel that one of the links is being broken which kept their city in the forefront of the west with the western sub-Arctic region, over which "G" division has been responsible for the enforcement of the law.

The headquarters of "K" division, whose jurisdiction covers the province, will continue to be located here. But the departure of "G" division, which is of operation in the northern territories, and Edmonton the administrative centre of a provincial force, in the geographic sense of the term.

DEFLATING MANHOOD

Premier Bracken says there are 20,000 more people on relief in Manitoba than there were a year ago. Since October of 1931 the expenditure in that province under this heading has amounted to $20,000,000. All the cities in the province, and the municipalities in greater Winnipeg, are unanimous in demanding the inception of a program of public works to replace the "direct relief" method.

It is safe to say the municipalities of this province and of any other province would also be found to be practically unanimous on the same proposition if it were taken. And the residents of any municipality that might be selected would be found in similar agreement.

Direct relief, it is said to say, is the most unpopular device ever adopted in Canada for accomplishing any public purpose, not forgetting some of the weird expedients of the Union Government of war days, and undesirably so. It has been tried long enough to show results. And, aside from depressing public funds without making any return, the "dole" is condemned as "deflating" the self-dependence and self-respect of an army of men who only accept it because they are offered nothing else.

MAKE THE DOLLAR HONEST

President Roosevelt is said to be working out plans for a "commodity dollar." That is, a dollar that will buy the same amount of commodities, on the average, at one time as at another time, and thus maintain a fairly constant price-level of the necessities of life.

If he does this, and can over-ride the greed, prejudice and ignorance that will be marshalled to prevent him putting the dollar into actual circulation, will it not be a country better service than though he collected every pound and franc and mark and ruble and lira that Europe owes it, in yellow gold.

Incidentally, he will revolutionize for the good the monetary systems of the world. Canada probably being the first to follow his lead. The people of Canada, like the people of the United States, are clamoring for an honest dollar, and mean to get it, whoever and whatever they have to fight.

Our neighbors in the United States cannot be any more heartily sick than are Canadians with the system that makes them do business with a dollar that was dollar four years ago, is two dollars now, and may be fifty cents next year. Nor may they more ardently resolved to make end of the swindling under which the public are fleeced every so often by money-manipulators who alternately boost prices and "bust" them.

Poems That Live

WILL-HISTORY REPEAT
"I met my friend Richard Bedford
From his pale looks, by his friends' danger near,
What is this, I am thinking, strike,
And this is the end, I am thinking, strike,
Swift let us fly, our loyalty to show,
And trample on the carcass of his foe.
But mark me well, my dearest friends,
And drag us to the bar, let them be true,
That of the favorites fall the converse run,
And that the singer runs from man to man,
You grant me, then, Richard, grossly err,
Nor knew what prayer his folly had preferred;
For when he begged for too much wealth and power,
Stage above stage he raised a tottering tower,
And higher still and higher—he was thrown
With loud and long and long and long and long,
What wrought the Cranes, what the Pompey's doom,
And his, who loved the stubborn rock of Rome?
Heard in malignant kindred, by the sky—
Few kings, few tyrants, find a natural end,
Or to the grave without a wound descend."
Edmonton. —AJAX

It seems somewhat more than happen-chance that the United States and the Canadian dollar, while fluctuating rather widely in terms of gold currencies, have moved for many weeks in the same direction, as far as the dollar is concerned. The Canadian dollar has advanced to such an extent that the Canadian dollar has achieved such equilibrium—Toronto Telegram.

On This Date
—A Day in Canadian History—
By Fred Williams

Montreal's first banquet ON THIS DATE 250 years ago an incident took place at Montreal which proved that thing is by no means a thing in Canada. The story of the War of 1812, told by E. Z. Massey, archivist of the Montreal court house, reveals that even when the present great city was little more than a group of huts, the village was occasional, even if the village did have a garden and a constabulary composed of two archers and a lieutenant.

On September 23, 1683, complaint was made to the lieutenant and principal that "certain individuals, roughly dressed and with their faces made up, are frequenting nightly the environs of the town, and in the presence of the night, have demanded the presence of three or four persons. He greatly informed that these persons being that they have been obliged to give up the money they had with them."

One of "those persons" was Hymerie Charpentier, who was robbed near Notre Dame de Bon Secours. The lieutenant, in presenting the matter was taken before the Sovereign Council at Quebec and the lieutenant and principal, in presenting the matter was taken before the Sovereign Council at Quebec and the lieutenant and principal, in presenting the matter was taken before the Sovereign Council at Quebec.

All three witnesses gave the names of the same three men. They were arrested and brought to the tribunal, where, with much manifestation of sorrow and a promise of reformation, they confessed their crimes. Their only excuse was they had taken the money to spend on liquor and under the name of "three men" and robbed him of 23 francs. Jean Aubuchon, 43 years old, testified that René Charpentier had been between 20 and 25 francs taken from him, and the wife of a merchant told how three young men had come to her stall and demanded money and brandy.

The superintendent fund the sum of $23,258.33, being an amount equal to the current contributions of the employees in 1930-31. The Passing Show

Very slowly the clock of progress moves in Canada, as compared to progress in the land of the future. The clock of progress moves in Canada, as compared to progress in the land of the future. The clock of progress moves in Canada, as compared to progress in the land of the future.

Manitoba, which has spent $200,000,000 on relief and has still a vast unemployment problem. It is the first of the Canadian provinces to wake up to the unreasonableness of Canada's method of dealing with the unemployment situation. All the cities of Manitoba and the municipalities of Greater Winnipeg, have united in a protest to the Manitoba government. They have won the agreement of Premier Bennett to a policy of relief works to meet the need of the day.

The Dominion government is to be approached with a request that money be advanced to the municipalities for public relief works at the same low rate of interest as the Dominion borrows for debt purposes. It puts squarely upon the Federal government the issue whether Federal machinery is to be utilized to put Manitobans back to work at living wages on needed works for public improvement or whether more millions are to be doled out and no return be made. That's an issue that needs to be faced in the interest of every province and every unemployed worker.

Premier Bennett may say that if he grants Manitoba's request, he will be beset by every other province in a similar manner. He may repeat his old story about the low rate of interest on the Dominion borrowings for debt purposes. It puts squarely upon the Federal government the issue whether Federal machinery is to be utilized to put Manitobans back to work at living wages on needed works for public improvement or whether more millions are to be doled out and no return be made. That's an issue that needs to be faced in the interest of every province and every unemployed worker.

A German playwright has written a thought-provoking play. He sees by the agency of a miracle, the dread return from the battlefields of World War I. He sees by the agency of a miracle, the dread return from the battlefields of World War I. He sees by the agency of a miracle, the dread return from the battlefields of World War I.

It would be a grim jest at the expense of those who profit greatly by the system which makes private money the god of the world, without which nothing can be done, to say that the exhortations to the machine to rise and save the world, were really attempts to rise and save the power of privately-owned money—itsself sacrosanct from expropriation. It is a sober truth that whereas the worst generation of its young men in the four years of the Great War, it has lost a second generation by the enforced idleness of its armies.

Cities have not been laid low and millions of men have been killed. But cities that should have been built have not been built and goods for the masses have not been created. There has been a form of invisible destruction by the armies of the idle.

After four years of idleness Canada still lacks a motor highway across Ontario linking the eastern and western sections of the Transcontinental Highway. The motor highway across Ontario linking the eastern and western sections of the Transcontinental Highway. The motor highway across Ontario linking the eastern and western sections of the Transcontinental Highway.

The morale of the unemployed has suffered under the Canadian dole system even more injury than the national physique. It hasn't even been checked as it has been in the case of the unemployed in Great Britain. Far more than the unemployment in Great Britain, far more than the unemployment in Great Britain, far more than the unemployment in Great Britain.

Over lunch today I read some of Francis Bacon's "New Atlantis." It is a story of a man who lived in Shakespeare's day, long before the age of steam and electricity, and long before the age of steam and electricity, and long before the age of steam and electricity.

The "New Atlantis" tells how the travellers, sailing from Peru to the island of Bensin, were struck by a plague and died. There is no foreign trade in commodities. The islanders produce and keep for themselves all that they need for consumption. The rest is leisure. A number of the islanders would amuse themselves by seeking to learn all that is to be known about their own country and their own people. They came back and report and their places are taken by a new set of scientific explorers. Thus

HOME NOT THE SAFEST PLACE
At the present time drivers of trucks who do not have accidents are being awarded medals. It is a splendid idea and the more drivers we can get interested in safe driving, the better. Furthermore, I believe that the most careful driver is the one who is careful at home. There is no safety at home—there should be. There should be no safety at home—there should be. There should be no safety at home—there should be.

Dr. F. McCoy
You might think that while you were flying in an airplane or riding in an automobile you were in greater danger than when you are at home. But according to the very latest statistics, while you are taking a bath or getting out of bed in your own home you are just as sure to be injured as when you are in a plane or on a train. In fact, the statistics show that the most dangerous place to be is at home.

Some of the common home accidents against which you should guard yourself are the following: 1—falling from a step or a porch or a window, or from a ladder, from chairs while standing on them, from windows, out of doors, or from a car. 2—burning or scalding from hot liquids, or from a fire, or from a gas stove, or from a gas stove, or from a gas stove. 3—other accidents such as injury from a knife, or from a hammer, or from a hammer, or from a hammer.

Children suffer a high percentage of accidents at home, some of which may be guarded against. A child may be injured while playing, by falling off a chair, or by a car, or by a car, or by a car. A child may be injured while playing, by falling off a chair, or by a car, or by a car, or by a car.

Many of the home accidents which affect grown people are easily prevented. Form the habit of being careful at home so that you are as alert as when you are away from home. Be careful of the way you protect your own safety. Don't be like the woman who was in such a hurry to take her flying lesson that she left the broom out of place. When she came back, she found the broom in the air she fell but the broom and hurt her arm.

Not only that but every day in the year about 77 people are killed in home accidents and more than 1,000 are injured. It is a sad fact that you start right away to "watch your step" as in this way you will be as safe at home as you will be anywhere else. It is a sad fact that you start right away to "watch your step" as in this way you will be as safe at home as you will be anywhere else.

Community Concert Service

Coming Winter

Musical activities for the season will commence in this city in earnest on Saturday, October 7, when the first recital of the season of the Women's Musical Club will be held at the Masonic Temple. The Musical Club has planned a busy season, while other organizations are organizing for equally busy programs.

Every effort is being made to bring a new and interesting series of recitals to this city. The idea of a community concert service has been suggested by the Women's Musical Club, which is planning a series of recitals for the coming winter.

In planning for the biennial festival of contemporary music to take place in Venice in 1934, the committee announced that the festival would have already had their premieres or not, provided these works have not been given within five years of the date of the festival. Previously the only works eligible to the festival were those which had not previously been played publicly.

SOUTH ARABIA IS THEME OF HIS SPEECH

Bertram Thomas Will Appear at Convocation Hall Next Friday

Under the auspices of the National Council of Education, Bertram Thomas will speak at Convocation Hall, University of Alberta at 8:15 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 29 on "The Great Desert of South Arabia." Mr. Thomas visits Canada as the first guest of the National Council's new Foundation on Geography. In his treatment of this subject the Council seeks to emphasize problems arising from the annihilation of space rather than facts of a purely geographic or scientific nature. In all that has made for the greater knowledge of the world by exploration, the British people have played a part that gives cause for satisfaction and even pride. They have contributed a worthy share in the discovery of new lands and, more recently, in the establishment of immediate communication between the four corners of the earth. It is this last fact that is the subject of the subject of geography in a new meaning and added importance. The growing contact between the peoples of the earth must not be allowed to enslave the peace of the world but must enrich its civilization through the contribution each has to make to a harmonious whole. The success of Mr. Thomas' expedition through the hitherto unknown Rub al Khali, achieved in complete isolation without guides or escort, was largely due to his personal knowledge of the desert people and his profound knowledge of their ways and language. In this, Mr. Thomas is an outstanding example of the geographer at his best.

VIENNA WILL PAY HONOR TO OPERA WRITER

Monument will be Erected in Memory of Richard Wagner

At last it looks as if Vienna, "The City of Music," will join the long list of European and American towns which have erected monuments to Richard Wagner. In reporting the recent conclusion of a competition, where sixty-five artists from all twelve for the honor of the proposed monument, the Vienna Volks-Zeitung explained that the various music societies in the Austrian capital had assembled a respectable sum of money for the purpose of honoring the German composer in stone just before the outbreak of the World War, but that it had been wiped out during the post-war inflation period. Now the multi-cultures are doing the work over again, with success practically assured. The winners of the first prize were Professor Oskar Thiele and Architect Karl Hauschke and Sculptor Ferdinand Opitz and Architect Werner Thiele and Brigitte Kundt in second place. The monument will be located in the broad garden-parterre in the Schwabengartenplatz.

The second Italian performance of Stravinsky's "Pulcinella" symphony took place recently at Teatro di Torino, and including the orchestra and chorus of the Italian Broadcasting Corporation, under the conductor, baton. An elegant audience, representing the intellectual elite of Turin, and including the Crown Princess, applauded warmly both the symphony and the excellent Stravinsky works completing the program.

An ingratiating, light, though undisciplined, rather melodically harmoniously.

Famed Tenor
Might Sing
In This City

Richard Crooks, Metropolitan opera tenor, who may appear in recital here during the coming winter. Plans for his possible appearance are being discussed, although no definite arrangements have been completed.

To Conduct Concert For Old Comrades

Frank G. Aldridge, bandmaster of the 40th Battalion Band. Under his baton, the band will play a concert on the lawn in front of the University hospital on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. The concert has been arranged for the benefit of the boys of the "old brigade" who are in the military wing of the hospital. Prior to becoming bandmaster of the 40th, Mr. Aldridge was conductor of the Newby's band and before that the G.W.V.A. band. During his service in France in the Great War, he played with the Royal Canadian Regiment Band.

According to information recently received from an authentic source, the present season at La Scala in Milan is progressing with gratifying financial success. The subscription from the opening of the opera season in the initial month more than doubled those of last year. The economic reform brought about by General Malatesta, financial manager, by Mino Cazzola, financial secretary, and Piero Fabbroni, artistic secretary, resulted in a saving of about 1,500,000 lire as compared to last season's budget.

LA SCALA OPERA HAS GOOD YEAR

The receipts for the present season at that point were $29,912.25 for the first 100 performances, a record last year, or an average nightly receipt of over 11,000 lire more than in 1931-32, exclusive of the gross price of the subscription. This result has been obtained, according to the La Scala management, by reducing prices and instituting new types of subscriptions, which has resulted in greater response on the part of the public.

The orchestra of the Concerts Lamoureux in Paris is planning a tour to Algeria, Morocco, Spain and the French provinces.

DO YOU TAKE ANY STOCK IN GHOST STORIES, MAJOR?

EGAD, BRADLEY, THERE IS ONE GHOST STORY I POSITIVELY BELIEVE, BECAUSE I WAS A PARTY TO IT!

AND THAT WAS THE HAUNTED OAK TREE OF STOKESBUN, ENGLAND!

A HAUNTED TREE?

I WAS ON A WALKING TOUR OF SOUTHERN ENGLAND AND, ON THIS PARTICULAR EVENING, WAS HEADED FOR THE LITTLE TOWN OF TENDHAM—I TOOK THE SHORTER, BUT LITTLE USED ROAD, WHICH SKIRTED THIS TREE THAT THE GOOD PEOPLE FEARED TO PASS!

AS I APPROACHED THE VICINITY OF THE DREADED TREE, THE WALKING BECAME VERY LABORIOUS, AS IF I WERE GOING UP A HILL, BUT THE ROAD WAS ABSOLUTELY LEVEL!

WHEN I CAME WITHIN A FEW YARDS OF THE OLD OAK TREE THE BLOOD IN MY VEINS CHILLED AS I BEHOLD A MISTY GHOST SHAPE WAFT OUT FROM IN BACK OF THE TREE

THEN, AS I ADVANCED TO THE TREE, THE GHOST VANISHED INTO THE TREE TRUNK!

IN ROUNDING THE TREE TRUNK TO INVESTIGATE, MY NECK RAN INTO WHAT I THOUGHT WAS A BRANCH, BUT, TO MY HORROR, WAS A LONG ARM.

BEFORE I COULD BACK AWAY, THE AWFUL ARM ENCIRED MY NECK IN A POWERFUL HOLD. ENRAGED, I WAS ABOUT TO—

GREAT CAESAR— THE LIGHTS! WHAT'S HAPPENED, BRADLEY?

UHP— DON'T ASK ME, MAJOR!

THE HOUR IS 3 A.M. AND THE ELECTRIC POWER COMPANY IS DOING SOME REPAIRING

UM—LET'S GO OVER TO CHILI CHARLIE'S ALL NIGHT LUNCH WAGON!

EGAD, BRADLEY, LET'S SEE— WHERE DID I LEAVE OFF IN MY STORY?

JUST AT TH' RIGHT PLACE—TH' SPOOK HAD HIS ARM AROUND YOUR NECK—AND WE'LL LEAVE IT THERE
